Town Hall News

Annual Town Meeting

The first half of the Annual Town Meeting was held May 4. Those present heard a brief presentation from the Commission for Education in Gill on their findings. Following the presentation, voters approved articles to form two committees to study the issue further (see “Committee Volunteers Sought”). The third article placed on the warrant by the Commission, one requesting the Gill Montague Regional School Committee to draw up amendments to the regional agreement setting forth the terms of Gill’s withdrawal from the district was passed over on a recommendation from the Commission. The Commission explained that the process the School Committee would have to undertake to accomplish that task would be large and expensive and is probably premature. The article can be included on the warrant of a future special town meeting should the Town choose to pursue it.

Town Meeting voters adopted a Massachusetts statute allowing the Selectboard to appoint a town administrator, but does not dictate that they must. Should the Board choose in the future to revert back to hiring an administrative assistant they would be allowed to do so. During the Board’s regular meeting on May 11, they voted unanimously to appoint the current administrative assistant, Tracy Rogers, as the Town’s first town administrator.

The two articles proposing to declare two town parcels as “surplus” were both defeated. The first addressed the Riverside Municipal Building on French King Highway. Though the article was defeated, what was approved was forming a committee to study possible future plans for the building. The second article addressed the Boyle property at the corner of Center Road and Lyons Hill Road.

Monetary articles were not addressed on May 4, given the lack of final figures for state aid and the Gill Montague Regional School District at that time. The meeting was continued until June 16, 7 PM, at which time monetary articles, including the omnibus, will be voted on.

Special Town Meeting June 16, 6 PM

Preceding the continuation of the Annual Town Meeting will be a special town meeting necessary to clean up a few items from the current fiscal year. In addition, Tighe & Bond will present their progress on conducting a market study and creating conceptual designs for the Mariamante parcel and voters will consider accepting a gift of protected land known as the “Sandri property”.

Committee Volunteers Sought

Three new ad hoc committees were created during annual town meeting and the Selectboard is now seeking volunteers to serve on those committees.

The first two committees were recommended by the Commission for Education as a way to further study the public education alternatives available to Gill. One is charged “to study and recommend for consideration possible changes to the Gill Montague Regional School District Agreement” and the other is charged to “to study the fiscal and educational advisability of joining the Pioneer Valley Regional School District or adding any towns to the Gill Montague Regional School District”.

The third committee is charged with studying future uses of the Riverside Municipal Building.

Though not a committee, the Town is also seeking trained mediators who would be willing to volunteer their time to assist in settling neighbor disputes that arise from time to time.

If you are interested in serving on any of these committees, or as a volunteer mediator, please contact Tracy Rogers.

Gill Receives Award with Distinction from Common Cause

In March, the Selectboard received news that Gill had won an award with distinction from Common Cause, a “nonpartisan, nonprofit, government watchdog, dedicated to citizen participation in an open, honest, and accountable government.” Only 49 communities among the 351 in the state received this award. The award recognized Gill’s website for having a multitude of documents available for the public to review, such as zoning bylaws, town bylaws, annual reports, and meeting agendas and minutes. Tracy is currently working with the Agricultural Commission to put a “virtual tour” of Gill farms on the site. We are constantly trying to improve the website and welcome any suggestions. Please contact Tracy at administrator@gillmass.org with suggestions.

Gill Elementary School

It is hard to imagine that the school year will draw to a close on June 17th. This has been a very busy and energizing year at Gill Elementary School. We have welcomed many new students and their families into the Gill School community and throughout the year, through a variety of community events, we have knit ourselves into a very friendly and supportive place for everyone. We still have a few events planned and we invite all community members to come and celebrate the end of the year with us.

On Tuesday, May 26 we will raise a new flag. Our Third Grade teacher, Sue Smith, noticed one day that our current flag was showing signs of wear. She contacted John Olver's office and arranged for us to receive a new flag, donated free of charge. In addition, the flag that we are receiving is special in that it has briefly flown over the United States Capitol Building in Washington, D.C. We will receive our new flag at a ceremony that is scheduled for 2 PM. Steve Damon, our music teacher, is teaching our students special patriotic songs for this occasion. The flag will be raised for the first time by a member of a staff who is also a veteran of our Armed Forces.

On Friday, June 5 we gather for an evening event that we call "Arts and Eats". The PTO puts on a barbeque for the community. After eating, people enjoy the wonderful display of children's art that adorns the hallways and cafeteria. It is very special to see the artistic creativity of our students. Please plan on joining us for the food and the arts.

For our 6th grade students and a few of our 5th grade students, the end of the school year also means that their time at Gill Elementary is drawing to a close as they will graduate and move on to different schools. We have planned a graduation ceremony for June 16. No event can really capture the profound change that happens for children as they grow from curious Kindergarteners to mature children with keen intellects and sharpened academic skills. Our staff at Gill Elementary School is proud and humble to be part of this transformative process. We thank the entire Gill community for your on-going support of education here at Gill Elementary School. It is your effort and support that enables us to do our work.

In a recent issue, we shared a view of January as written in Joseph B. Marble's Diary in 1866. Joseph Marble lived on River Road with his wife Jerusha (Morgan), his daughter Isabelle, and his son Jay. In 1866, Isabelle is teaching at the Powers Institute in neighboring Bernardston. J.B.'s father-in-law, Obed Morgan, had re-married and lived with second wife in the house on the Gill Common, across from the current library, that J.B. and his family later occupied. This diary was given to the GHC by Henry Ingram, who lived in the 1823 house after several generations of the Marbles. The Marble farm on River Road is now the Girard farm. In this issue, we return to the Marble diary after a spring month from the Chandler Munn diary at the north end of town. All of these entries show the men's work in an agrarian Gill of the mid-19th century. We hope that as we turn to summer in much of
